2 Sikeston men, Malden man killed in accidents

Two Sikeston men and a Malden man were killed and four persons were injured in five traffic accidents on area roads and highways over the weekend, the highway patrol reported today.

The latest fatalities bring the traffic death toll in Southeast Missouri this year to 144, compared to 168 deaths at the same time last year.

James T. Green, 59, and a passenger, Jake Ward, 65, of Sikeston, were fatally injured Sunday morning when Green's pickup truck reportedly ran through a stop light at the intersection of Highways 60 and 61 at the south edge of Sikeston and crashed into the side of a tractor- trailer truck driven by Henry Allen Doggett, 55, of Blytheville, Ark.

The accident occurred at 8:25 a.m.

Green was dead on arrival at Missouri Delta Community Hospital in Sikeston. Ward died at the hospital at 11:15 a.m. Doggett was not injured.

Green was born March 6, 1914 at Savannah, Tenn.

Marijuana charges filed against Moit

CAPE GIRARDEAU-- A Bertrand man, Manuel Allen Moit, 21, arrested Friday afternoon in Cape Girardeau, has been charged with possession of more than 35 grams of marijuana and possession of narcotics paraphernalia, according to Prosecuting Attorney Al Seier's office.

Moit was arrested when the car he was driving struck a gasoline pump at the Star Service Station at the corner of Broadway and North Frederick streets. Cape Girardeau police officers said when they arrived at the station they found Moit sitting behind the wheel with the motor running. Police said he appeared intoxicated and at police headquarters, officers noticed a bulge in his clothing, which was a plastic bag containing the substance.

Moit was released on $3,000 bond.

7 energy-related bills introduced

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — "I know other legislators are afraid of it, but I'm not going to be afraid of it," says state Rep. J. T. "Jerry" Howard, who has introduced a bill to take away drivers' licenses of 16 and 17-year-olds during the energy crisis.

"When you have a crisis, you have to take stern measures," says the Democrat from Dexter in southeast Missouri.

"Sure it's discrimination," he said. "But for the most part these are students who don't need to drive to make a living."

Howard says he plans to check with the Revenue Department to see how many licenses are owned by persons 16 and 17. The bill would cover all motor vehicles, including motorcycles.

Any persons 16 or 17 who could show they need their licenses to earn money for the family, drive to the hospital or a doctor's office or otherwise are the sole transportation in the family would be given a special underage permit.

Howard's bill, one of seven energy-related bills introduced in the special legislative session, would expire March 1, 1976, or earlier by executive order of the governor.

His bill is due for a hearing in the House Roads and Highways Committee Dec. 17.

The House was to reconvene its special session today at 4 p.m. Due for a hearing today were three bills dealing with the speed limit.

The limit now is 70 miles per hour on interstate highways, 65 on two-lane roads.

A measure allowing the governor to set the speed limit on all highways, at not less than 50 M.P.H., was introduced by the House speaker pro tem, Richard DeCoster, D-Canton.

DeCoster also planned to introduce a bill today to give the state Public Service Commission authority to monitor all energy supplies in the state and keep an inventory.

DeCoster's speed limit bill would expire Sept. 28, 1975.

Nearly all the energy bills have an emergency clause, putting them into effect when the governor signs them.

A bill by Rep. Buddy Kay, D-St. Louis, would set the maximum speed at 60 M.P.H. It would expire April 1, 1975.

Another bill by Rep. Harold Volkmer, D-Hannibal, would set the limit at 55 M.P.H. Its expiration date would be Dec. 12, 1975.

The bills by Volkmer and Kay would put the limit into law and the governor could not change it before the expiration date.

A measure to allow school districts to operate schools only four days a week, with six-hour days, was filed by Reps. Earl Sponsoler, D-Cabool, and Wendell Bailey, R-Willow Springs.

Burglars busy over weekend

DEXXTER-- The Stoddard County Sheriff's department is investigating a rash of burlgaries that occurred over the weekend.

A motorcycle was taken from the home of Delmar Barks of Dexter sometime Saturday night.

The Curve Inn at Essex was burglarized over the weekend and a case of popcorn, cigars and soft drinks was taken. Burglars pried a hasp from the door to get into the building.

Another burglary was reported at Williams' Gun Shop west of Advance. Seven guns were taken.

Advance youth critically shot

ADVANCE-- Michael Welch of Advance was critically wounded in a hunting accident Sunday near Advance, according to Stoddard County Sheriff Ralph Mouser.

Welch and two other youths, Timmy White and Steve Vokrack of Advance were hunting rabbits when the accident occurred. A bullet passed through Welch's body, but the Sheriff's department did not know whether it entered from the front or back.

Welch was taken to Southeast Missouri Hospital in Cape Girardeau where his condition is listed as critical.

The shooting is still under investigation.

Smoke shoots skyward

Smoke poured out a window at the back of Poole's Heating and Cooling on South Main street early Sunday morning after a fire broke out in the back shop area. Firemen quickly extinguished the blaze which did extensive damage to the Poole firm.

Fire damages Pool's Heating and Cooling

Fire did extensive damage to the back shop of Pool's Heating and Cooling on South Main Street early Sunday morning.

The cause of the fire is unknown, but Fire Chief Larry Linnemeyer said the blaze may have started in a faulty heating unit suspended from the ceiling of the shop. It was discovered shortly after midnight.

When firemen arrived at the building, located across from Jack Frost Discount, flames were shooting through the roof and smoke was rising from the length of the building.

An extra pumper and the ladder truck were called to the scene, but the fire was quickly extinguished.

Firemen also were called to the Rustic Rock Inn restaurant on North Main Street at 6:45 a.m. Saturday when an employe discovered a small flame shooting from the furnace. Firemen said the flame was caused by a small gas leak and there was no damage.

At 10:10 a.m. Saturday, firemen were called to East Front Street where a car belonging to William Neal caught fire. The fire, which firemen said damaged the car's engine before being extinguished, was apparently caused by a carburetor backfire.

Shortly after 4 p.m. Sunday, firemen were called to a grassfire at 923 Hawthorne. The fire had been put out by the time firemen arrived.

Oran men presented conservation awards

BENTON — Schell Bodenhamer, associate dean of the University of Missouri Extension Division in Columbia, spoke on energy, pesticides, fertilizers and land use at Scott County Soil and Water Conservation District's 11th annual meeting Saturday in the American Legion Hall.

Miss Nancy Dohogne, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Dohogne of Oran, was presented a $10 check for winning first place in the county poster contest.

Miss Dohogne also won first place in the state poster contest during July in Fulton where she competed with approximately 300 students in the state.

Arthur Eftink and Wesley Schlosser of Oran were presented certificates for outstanding achievements in conservation farming.

Paul Stucky of Benton and Frank Schlosser of Illmo were elected Soil and Water Conservation District area supervisors for 1974.

Bodenhamer said the United States has a coal supply that would last the country at least 400 years but that only 15 per cent of the coal would be able to meet Clean Air Act requirements.

Schell Bodenhamer

"What the country does earlier relates to the type of crisis that will follow," Bodenhamer said. In reference to the gasoline shortage, he said he expects the price to rise at least five times within the coming year.

According to Bodenhamer, possible solutions that may help in the energy crisis could be electricy, nucular energy, agriculture and soybeans.

"The United States uses a total of eight million tons of fertilizer each year," Bodenhamer remarked. During the 1974 season some farmers may find it difficult to obtain certain types of fertilizers for their crops, he said.

At present, Bodenhamer said there are several bills before the Missouri Legislature concerning restrictions on pesticides.

According to Bodenhamer, the No. 1 polluter of Missouri crops is erosion. "Eleven out of 15 acres of crops need some type of chemical treatment," he remarked.

Bodenhamer concluded his speech by saying that one of the main projects that will help the towns in developing their land will be the soil survey.

A farm industry spokesman has charged that the worst cover-up operation in Washington is not Watergate, but the untiring efforts of the Administration and the Congress, in particular, to cover up with controls the inflation caused by irresponsible government spending policies.

In the words of the spokesman, "Without denying the political significance of the Watergate investigation, we must conclude that the efforts to 'cover-up' inflation by means of economic controls is in the most respects a far greater threat to the well-being of this nation..." He added that only a few political appointees are involved in Watergate. Controls on the other hand, "tempt citizens in every community across the land to hoard supplies, rustle cattle, keep two sets of books, pass money under the counter for special favors – and even cheat in such matters as the amount of fat left untrimmed on meat in grocery stores. Any government program which invites mass cheating is certain to be a corrupting influence..."

VIETNAM'S COSTS:
FORGET THE MONEY

The Indochina war will have cost American taxpayers a total of $676 billion by the time we finish paying for it.

So claims Thomas Riddell, a Bucknell University economist, whose study of the economic effects of the Vietnam conflict has been published in The Progressive magazine.

Ridell's figure includes not only the actual wartime outlay for weapons and materiel and expected future expenditures for Vietnam veterans and their dependents, which will go on well into the next century. He expands it by including U. S. support of the French effort in Southeast Asia, beginning in 1950, as well as his estimated of "human resources" costs.

The latter include wage losses suffered by draftees, the dollar price to society of drug addiction among veterans and the value of lifetime production lost to the economy because of casualties.

But while it is not easy to minimize the costs of this terrible war, neither is it difficult to exaggerate them to prove a point. Riddell, for example, does not offset the wage losses of draftees — which cannot really be known — with an estimate of the increased earning power of other veterans who may possibly have acquired skills and trades useful in civilian life.

In any event, it is hopeless to try to pin down a final figure for something that has to be spoken of in terms of hundreds of billions of dollars, by any reckoning. Forget the money. Consider the other costs of the Vietnam war, which Riddell also mentions:

More than 56,000 men killed and more than 303,000 injured; almost 23,000 double amputees: more than 2,500 quadraplegics and paraplegics; about 260,700 veterans receiving disability payments; more than 1,300 Americans still listed as missing in action.

And to think that the ice cream cone was created only 69 years ago at the World's Fair in St. Louis.

The Egyptian Sphinx is not a lady, as most people believe. The model for one of the world's best known monuments was a male baboon, sacred in ancient times. The creature is no longer found in Egypt.

The hand that rocks the cradle now also steers the wheel as well. In 1940 fewer than 25 per cent of all licensed drivers were women. Now 44 per cent are.

It takes a lot of little things to make a great big human being. For example, one of your red corpuscles is so tiny that a cube only 1-25th of an inch across could hold enough of them to equal the population of Chicago. Yet, small as these corpuscles are, each of them is big enough to contain 100 million hemoglobin molecules.

Would you yourself list them in that order?

PUBLIC WELFARE
SPENDING KEEPS
ON CLIMBING

The Federal government originally planned to spend $131 billion – nearly half its proposed $269 billion budget -- on public welfare this year, according to an estimate given Congress.

That view of public welfare spending includes expenditures for "income security" programs (the social insurance programs like social security, medicare, unemployment and government retirement systems to which beneficiaries have contributed, as well as those welfare programs based on financial need).

Spending for the income security programs alone has more than tripled in the past 10 years, according to Tax Foundation Inc.

Actually, the estimated costs of public welfare, including administrative costs of more than $4 billion, may be too low. So far this year Congress has legislated increases in Social Security and Supplemental Security Income payments continuation of the food stamp program, and postponed until November the use of new regulations the Department of Health, Education and Welfare claimed would tighten up welfare spending.

About-one-fourth of the Federal spending, under 100 separate public welfare programs, will be paid out on the basis of financial need. About half of the spending involved will be paid in cash benefits and the remainder in the form of food, medical, housing, counseling, training and other benefits.

Although the Federal government will assume the full cost of providing basic assistance to the aged, blind and disabled in January, welfare spending for the needy from state and local funds -- $16.2 billion in 1972 -- will continue to rise.

According to Tax Foundation studies, total welfare based on need was estimated in fiscal 1972 to cost the nation's taxpayers about $36 billion.

Because the programs overlap – some people may received benefits from three or four different programs and some families from as many as 11 -- it is impossible to say at any one time exactly how many persons in the United States are receiving public welfare.

A recent study for a Congressional committee, however, estimated that between 25 and 30 million persons were helped on the basis of financial need.

It is no wonder that grumbling, over-burdened taxpayers are going to make this welfare spending an issue in 1974.

WILL RODGERS' HUMOR
AND WISDOM NEEDED
TODAY

While most young people won't know what we are talking about, this is a time when we need a Will Rogers to comment on the Watergate era and political turmoil with his wisdom and humor.

Although his voice has been stilled for 40 years, Will Rogers would have been 94 years old last Nov. 4 which reminded us of the years he was America's number one ambassador of goodwill.

Above all, the legend of the man centers around his political commentaries and his views on life and the times in which he lived -- views which even today stand the test of time. In fact, to read what Will Rogers told the world a half century ago seems uncannily appropriate for the events of the 1970s.

Let's see how his comments of four and five decades ago shed light on circumstances he might have understood better than any of us. There are many examples. All the quotes are Will Rogers'.

Campaign corruption: "The Democrats are having a lot of fun exposing the Republican campaign corruptions, but they would have a lot more fun of they knew where they could lay their hands on some of it themselves for next November" (1920s).

The presidency: "I have always maintained that no president can be as bad as the men that advise him" (January, 1933).

Cover-ups: "You can't believe a thing you read in regard to an official's statements. The minute anything happens connected with official life, it's just like a cold night -- everybody is trying to cover up" (Oct. 4, 1925).

Public opinion of politicians: "People's minds are changed through observation and not through argument" (March 16, 1932).

"The American people are generous and will forgive almost any weakness with the exception of stupidity" (Feb. 24, 1934).

Presidential popularity: "There is no country in the world where a person changes from a hero to a goat and a goat to a hero, or visa versa, as they do with us ... It's not our public men you can't put your finger on, it's our public. We are the only fleas weighing over 100 pounds. We don't know what we want, but we are ready to bite somebody to get it" (June 19, 1935).

Political scandals: "We've been staggering along now about 155 years under every conceivable horse thief that could get into office and yet here we are, still going strong. I doubt if Barnum circus has housed as many different kinds of species as has been in our government employ during its existence. As bad as they are they can't spoil it and as good as they are they can't help it. So as bad as we are, we are better off than any other nation, so what's the use to worry?" (Nov. 16, 1930).

The public's elective power: "Every time we have an election, we get in worse men and the country keeps right on going. Times have proven only one thing and that is you can't ruin this country even with politics" (Nov. 4, 1928).

"If we didn't have two parties, we would settle on the best men in the country and things would run fine. But as it is, we settle on the worst ones, and then fight over 'em" (Oct. 4, 1925).

"It's just got so that 90 per cent of the people don't give a damn. Politics ain't worrying this country one- tenth as much as parking space" (circa 1930s).

"Things in our country run in spite of government. Not by aid of it" (circa 1930).

Congressional investigations: "Everybody wants to hear accusations and nobody wants to hear denials" (April 6, 1924, speaking of a Senate investigation).

"The American people would trade 10 investigations for one conviction" (June 6, 1924).

The American image abroad: "It will take America 15 years steady taking care of our own business and letting everybody else's alone to get us back to where everybody speaks to us again" (1925).

"I don't care how little your country is, you got a right to run it like you want. When the big nations quit meddling, then the world will have peace" (circa 1920s).

GOVERNMENT PAYROLL
COST TO $118 BILLION

It is no longer amusing to taxpayers that, while the number of government workers continues to grow about twice as fast as the population, it's the cost of paying them that's leapfrogging.

The monthly public payroll of $6.1 billion in 1967 had risen to $9.7 billion by last October, a 60 per cent increase. On an annual basis, Tax Foundation Inc. estimates that civilian payrolls alone will exceed $118 billion in 1973.

Civilian public employment totaled 13.6 million last October. Of the total, 10.8 million worked in the local-state government level and 2.8 million in the Federal government.

The October 1972 employment total represents an increase of 287,000 from October 1971 and 1.6 million from 1967, a 13 per cent increase in the five- year period. The nation's population increased about 5 per cent in the same time.

Federal employment was cutback by about 200,000 during the period, from 3 million in 1967. The monthly Federal payroll, however, has kept on rising, from $1.8 billion to about $2.7 billion which indicates the majority in Congress are in favor of feathering their own nests with rasies.

Approximately one-fifth of the 10.8 million state and local employes are hired on a part-time basis, making the total full-time equivalent 9,177,000. More than half the 371,000 increase in full-time equivalent employment in 1971-72 was in education, the field that claims half of all state and local employes.

This is how it breaks down for Kansas: state- local employes were 123,000 in 1967 and 140,000 in 1972; amount of payroll was $46 million in 1967 and $69 million in 1972. Yet Gov. Docking would have us believe he is a conservative spender and talks about his tax-lid policies.

Take right now.

Did you know the most popular song being played by the platter patters is Photograph?

Maybe you thought Photograph was something else like a picture, or the name of a race horse. Well, it isn't. It's good ol' Number One.

Running second in the groove grand prix is Top of the World while Midnight Train to Georgia and Goodby Yellow Brick Road are close behind.

Now, can you really believe something is wrong with a country which like No. 13 — Leave Me Alone Ruby Red Dress?

Or maybe you would rather not answer. Anyway, Ruby trails Paper Roses and is ahead of Mind Games, Times In a Bottle and Be.

Somehow, you can just see the emigrants lining up on European shores to come to the land of of Mind Games and Be.

That's right, Be.

You'll have to agree Shakespeare, Cole Porter and Clifford Irvine never wrote a better line than that — Be.

Incidentally, No. 24 right now must be a Hungarian song.

Its name is D'yer Mak'er.

Or, then again, maybe that tune is named after some foreign place kicker in he National Football League.

Yes sir, to know the heart of a country, to feel its charm, to be inspired by its character listen to the likes of Half Breed, The Joker, or Helen Wheels, You're a Special Part of Me, Smarty Pants.

Those titles get us down to the less sensible titles below the fifties. Titles like Love Me Like a Rock — wonder how you do that (our comment, not a title).

And there is Sister Mary Elephant, Nutbush City Limits, Spiders and Snakes, Corazon.

Lastly, right there at No. 74 on the air play parade is the kind of song that makes men, men and women want to join the Army.

Yes sir, if the Minute Men had had it a Lexington, if George had had it at Valley Forge, if MacArthur had had it at Corregidor, if John Dena had had it at Camp David, history would be different. Because good ol' No. 74 is:

The Day That Curly Billy Shot Crazy Sam.

SHORTAGES BRING
CHANGE IN TUNE

Those who once boasted of their drive to knock the profits out of essential industries like food products, aerospace, automotive services and energy, have now changed their tune just a bit. They no longer brag about what they are doing to our basic industries and to the profits which keep our free system going. They lay the blame elsewhere, while increasing their attacks on business and on profits.

It is as if they had not lived through these past months which have so clearly revealed the inevitable results of their folly. They have succeeded in their efforts, causing growing shortages of food, fuel and services, and now they call for more of the same policies which destroyed jobs and profits, bringing on the shortages in the first place.

These central planners and people controllers prefer Marx and shortages to Freedom and plenty. After driving profits so low as to knock out 80 percent of the oil wildcatters, for example, they blame the oil industry and profits for the resulting shortages.

Only the people can stop this stupidity. It is past time to free the miraculous production engine of the profit- motive system. We must allow those who know how to find, produce and deliver fuel, food and other essentials to get on with the jobs only they can do. The alternative is to suffer increasing shortages and increasing controls over our lives, resulting in rapid bankruptcies of businesses, loss of jobs and disaster. Surely we are wiser than that. HLH

Washington Merry-Go-Round

By Jack Anderson

JACK ANDERSON SAYS:
Kremlin Phone Tap Leak Now White House Alibi

WASHINGTON -- We have been accused of compromising as intelligence operation, perhaps even jeopardizing the life of an agent, inside the Soviet Union.

Let us set the record straight.

More than two years ago, we were tipped off that the Central Intelligence Agency had managed to eavesdrop on the private conversations of Kremlin leaders. Some of the transcripts, we were told, were quite titillating.

We checked out the story with a CIA source who had access to the transcripts. He confirmed that the CIA was intercepting the telephone traffic between the limousines of Soviet bigwigs.

GOSSIPY LEADERS

Unfortunately, he said, they didn't hold strategy sessions in their limousines. The CIA picked up small talk, however, which provided an insight into the personalities of the likes of party chief Leonid Brezhnev, Premier Alexi Kosygin and President Nikolai Podgorny.

The transcripts revealed that the Soviet leaders gossip about one another and complain about their ailments. Their favorite limousine stop was a private clinic where they could get steam baths, rubdowns and other physical therapy.

Brezhev, who sometimes drinks too much vodka and suffers from hangovers, told Podgorny in a typical conversation that he was suffering from the woes and would stop off at the clinic for a massage. He mentioned a masseuse named Olga.

"Olga! Oh Ho!" chortled the Soviet president, who apparently was familiar with Olga.

KREMLIN AWARE

Therefore, it should do no harm to write about the eavesdropping operation, said our source. He cautioned, however, that the monitored conversations didn't make clear whether the Soviet leaders had figured out how we did it.

We published a careful story on September 16, 1971, about the eavesdropping. "For obvious security reason," we wrote, "we can't give a clue as to how it's done. But we can state categorically that for years the CIA has been able to listen to the kingpins of the Kremlin banter, bicker and backbite among themsleves."

The following December, we quoted from secret White House minutes to show that President Nixon had lied to Congress and the public about the India- Pakistan conflict.

FOOLISH CRIMES

This brought the President's gumshoes down on our necks with a vengeance. No newsmen in Nixondom have ever received a more thorough going-over. The undercover work was done by the plumbers, the bizarre para-police unit whose operatives ran around in ICA wigs and committed foolish crimes.

The bewigged ones, among other things, began checking into our account of the Kremlin bugging. This aroused Richard Helms, then the CIA chief, who invited me to lunch on March 17, 1972.

He asked me not to mention the eavesdropping operation, in my book, "The Anderson Papers." He acknowledged that the Kremlin leaders knew their conversations had been monitored. But he pleaded with me to keep quiet and urged me particularly never to mention how the conversations were intercepted.

Accordingly, I omitted the references from my book and left it to others to reveal the secret monitoring method. Not until today, after the limousine- listening operation has been widely publicized elsewhere, have we mentioned how it was done.

WHISPERING CAMPAIGN

Nevertheless, the White House has seized upon this affair to justify the President's claim of national security in the plumbers case. Aides have been whispering that our story shut down one of the best pipelines into the Soviet Union.

This is strictly a red herring, which President Nixon hopes will distract the Watergate bloodhounds. The truth is that: (1) the monitored Kremlin chitchat was never an important intelligence source; (2) Our September 16, 1971, story revealed nothing the Kremlin leaders didn't already know; and (3) the President's claim of national security simply won't wash.

His motive is perfectly clear.He is vulnerable to charges that he obstructed the investigation of the plumbers. For he has admitted not only that he formed the plumbers but that he ordered Assistant Attorney General Henry Petersen not to investigate them.

Now Egil Krogh, the chief plumber, has pleaded guilty to one of the crimes committed, by his curious crew. Other criminal indictments have been handed down.

The President't attempt to block an investigation into these crimes, therefore, would appear to be obstruction of justice -- which itself is a crime.

His justification for attempting to cover up the plumbers' crimes is national security. But Krogh has cut some of the ground out from under him by telling the judge: "I now feel that I cannot in conscience assert national security as a defense."

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

Inside the Truck Rebellion:
Teamsters May Trigger Nation's Labor By Reopening Wage Contracts Over Fuel Crunch

WASHINGTON-- Of course, the melodrama is in the owner-driver truckers' highway blockades, here and there abetted by the police, in some six or seven states. There may be violence. There may be scattered traffic and delivery chaos. Even some meat, grocery or steel supply shortages for a day or so.

Bill Hill, leader of one of the blockade- building truck drivers' bands, called Fraternal Assn. of Steel Haulers (FASH), a rebel faction inside the Teamsters union, is talking mighty tough. FASH blockades and rebellions against the national Teamsters contracts have been paralleled with grim violence. Blood has run on those picket lines.

But after the histrionics of other owner- driver truckers leaders, with citizen radio band call names like River Rat and Viking, are over, this nation may face a quieter, more basic labor upheaval.

Actually this is one of the most significant early moments of truth in the energy crunch. Teamsters union president Frank Fitzsimmons tells me he and his colleagues, who have disowned the owner- driver blockades, really do mean to reopen the national master freight agreement signed earlier this year with Trucking Employers, Inc. This covers some 425,000 union drivers. Simple reason: at a 50- mile-an- hour speed, with drivers earning some 16 cents a mile, the teamsters would lose some 20 per cent of their wages. At 55 miles, loss would be some 10 per cent. Even at a 60- mile limit there would be a cut. A big van needs "free wheeling" to make a good run of some 500 miles in 10 hours. And they say they can't gear up to "free wheeling" until they hit 58 m.p.h.

There are all sorts of Department of Transportation regulations which keep a driver off the road after 10 hours of pushing. These will keep wages down unless there is this "free wheeling." So Fitz says, "Take us seriously, we just will have to reopen those contracts if the new law, now being debated in Sen. Bentsen's subcommittee on roads cuts us below 60 miles an hour."

In recent years, other massive unions have watched the Teamsters. As the drivers go on wages and percentage increases, so have the others gone. Back in 1970 the Teamsters set the pace for construction and the auto union. Now if it reopens, they'll set the pace for next year's steel union negotiations and for reopeners in other industries, contracts or no contracts. There are always strategic "wildcat" strikes as weapons.

The rash of truck blockades is but a symptom of the industrial unrest beginning to seep through the land as supplies of diesel and other fuels thin out. Toughest action, for the moment, springs from a network of men who own their big vans, sometimes earn as much as $40,0000 annually as individual contractors, and are cut up in several factions.

One big group, no one really knows how many, though it could run as high as 10,000, is tied up with a California trade publication which provokes them in weird fashion. In the magazine's October issue there was a two-page spread headlined: "45,000 Owner- Operators Lead Nation to Revolution! Refusing to Be Nationalized, Truckers Provide Final Bombshell as President Is Assassinated! World Sees Power of United Truckers." The story then talks of what these men can do-- and the smaller print interweaves the report on Chile's truck strikes, blockades and the destruction of the Allende regime.

You can interpret the article's parallelism as you wish. The theme is rebellion on the highways.

American owner- drivers are in a tough mood. They pay their own expenses. For example, the blockaders' truck tanks can hold 150 to 200 gallons of diesel fuel. And they have to fill up on the road.

With scarcity, says one driver, he would have to make the Omaha- New York run carrying meat with 12 stops instead of 6-- if he can get gas. It's now mostly available in 20 to 40 gallon doles. In some areas it is running more than 75 cents a gallon now, up from 35 and 40 cents. And that's the driver's most basic beef.

So his expenses are up, his running time is longer, and the number of contracts he can handle for some local broker is slashed. And he is away from home base more since this could add as much as two days on a round- trip run.

He and his fellow owner-drivers are in an ugly mood. It's vital to understand that they haul 25 per cent of the nation's common carriage (general commodity) freight. And they're thinking of simply stowing their gear and getting jobs bartending for the duration.

And already there's more freight than can be carried by rail and available trucks. Those White House specialists had better take a look at price-rocketing diesel fuel and the ramifications of the shortage-- and heed Fitzsimmons's appeal for "a meaningful" summit conference before the nation's wheels go out of gear.

Ann Landers

—Reader says Americans have killed the Christmas spirit

Dear Ann Landers: Please print this in your column, although I won't be around to read it. I will have left for Bangkok, Thailand.

Someone circulated an essay around the office--- written by a man named William Kirchoff, whom I don't know. He's a friend of someone who works here. I can't quote the essay verbatim because I don't have it, but it expressed my views perfectly.

Mr. Kirchoff says Christmas is dead. The American people have stood it up against the wall and executed it. From its grave, a ghost has risen. The ghost calls itslef "Christmas," but it's a poor imitation of the real thing.

The change that hit me first was the tree. When I was a boy a Christmas tree was green and it smelled like a tree. The ornaments were pretty--- some were homemade. Today, a green Christmas tree--- a live one--- is rare. The "in" tree is white, silver or pink. It sparkles with sprayed- on stuff. The lights blink to keep time with a hidden stereo that plays Christmas music.

And this brings me to the next big change. "Silent Night" just doesn't make it anymore. It has to be sexy, like, "I Saw Mommy Kissing Santa Claus." The worst indignity is "Santa Baby." it comes back every year, like an itch.

Poor old Santa is no longer the jovial gentleman who puts candy canes in the children's stockings. Ho, ho, ho. He is the guy from Central Casting in the nylon beard and the red satin suit that retails for $14.95. He comes riding into town, not on a sleigh with reindeer, but in an open- top convertible, surrounded by six half- naked beauty contest winners. A month early.

When the kiddies sit on his knee, he listens to what they want, then tells them where to drag their parents to buy these goodies. Santa has gone slightly commercial.

Worst of all, the spirit of Christmas is gone. Family get-togethers are now out of the question because people are busy with office parties. And that's another story. Booze flows like it's being piped in from the city reservoir. Stenographers smooch behind water coolers and filing cabinets with men whose first names they wouldn't dare use any other day of the year. All this in the name of Christmas.

Christmas, the one day of the year set aside for Peace On Earth, Good Will Toward Men. They couldn't leave it alone. They had to go and kill it.--- Idaho Reader

Dear Reader: Thanks for sharing. And now I have some news for you. My column appears in the Bangkok World. (Yes, it's in English.) See you in Thailand!

Dear Ann Landers: I need to know what to do. I don't trust my own judgment. Too much emotion involved.

For years I have been giving my nieces and nephews a Christmas check. No big deal when I started but the number has grown from three to 27. Last year it was very difficult, but I made it. Through June I had to do without things I really needed. This year, what with inflation and four new babies, I just can't manage those checks.

Should I write a note of apology or would it be better to remain silent? I want to do what's right.--- Florida Woe

Dear F. W.: Write a note expressing some warm sentiment. Say you regret that there will be no check this year but you send your love, as always.

Are your parents too strict? Hard to reach? Ann Landers's booklet, "Bugged By Parents? How to Get More Freedom," could help you bridge the generation gap. Send 50c in coin with your request and a long, stamped, self- addressed envelope to Ann Landers, P. O. Box 3346, Chicago, Ill. 60654.

Pity, too, the poor fellow who had three slugs of yule cheer before he realized he poured his wife's L'Amour instead of the gift d'Amour Scotch.

Change comes with needs, wants

By SHAREN K. HUNT
Area Home Economist

A lot has been said about what's wrong with today's families, but to change or improve, we need to know what we really want. According to Dr. Lynn Scoresby, Brigham Young University, there are six characteristics of a healthy or successful family.

Meta communication is one of the characteristics that describe a family "fully" functioning for individual member fulfillment. Meta communication is communicating about communication. This is "signal clearing" with others, checking to see if you have understood what others mean, and if they know how or what you feel.

Learning how to describe your feelings when you've been interrupted, ignored or left out of the discussion is a way to share feelings and clarify intentions.

Another part of meta communication is recognizing the nonverbal communication. It has been estimated that a conversation between 3 people emits 10,000 cues in a minute and a half. We pick out about 10 per cent of them, so we must accept the fact that true communication does take effort and skill.

Another aspect of "good" families is that they share a mutual purpose. They know what they want and all agree to it. One hazard in this mutual purpose is that many times, the one with power, usually parents, are the purpose staters, with others as non-voting members.

Decision making is a quality that invokes whole family, with each member's wishes and ideas respected. This is different than in unsuccessful families where trying to decide anything involves hard feelings, hard and fast rules and little freedom of choice for smaller or younger members.

Being in charge of situations and not merely reacting to circumstances describes a healthy family. This is when we each judge our feeling and actions by looking at ourselves and not considering it a horrible day just because children misbehaved.

Dr. Scoresby suggested parents try to talk about themselves for one minute and see if they can do so without mentioning children. Parents need to feel in charge of their own emotions and not always react to outside events.

Our behavior affects others, also, as well as being affected by others. Successful families establish set conditions to make planning easier. For example, when a wife wears aprons backwards, her husband knows she is in a bad mood and wants him to talk to her.

The other side is when he is upset and gives the signal or sets the stage so his wife knows he wants to be by himself. The signals helped establish the conditions so they know how to respond.

Conflict management is a healthy family's way of handling problems or emergencies. Families that feel conflict of any sort is unavoidable and unmanageable try to avoid topics that are touchy. They believe one can only roll with fate or punches, while successful families feel some trouble and problems can be headed off by operation discussion and deciding on general "rules of thumb."

Each family should have a personality of its own; not a drowning of individual traits, but a feeling of familyship. This is when a member could write a self- description of his family role and if other family members did the same thing, one's self perception would almost match how others saw him.

A healthy family can explain its philosophy, weaknesses, strengths, relationships, how it handles change and information and its values and beliefs. One basic principle supporting the need for successful families is the fact that people are influenced for their lifetime by what they got or didn't get in the family.

Indians lose

CAPE GIRARDEAU, Mo. (AP) — Guard Enos Mitchell rang up 22 points to guide Henderson State of Arkansas to a 66-63 victory over the host Southeast Missouri State University Indians in the championship game of the Giradot Classic this weekend.

Southeast Missouri, down 38-27 at halftime, staged a late second half rally to come within one point of the Reddies, 62-61, with only 20 seconds left. But then guard Jerry Bradley ripped the net from 30 feet out to ice the game for Henderson State.

Forward Larry Lawrence and center Arvin Haynes shared the scoring honors for the Indians, each with 16 points, as Southeast Missouri fell to 2-3 for the year. The victory was the Reddies' ninth in ten outings.

In a see-saw battle for consolation honors, the University of Arkansas-Pine Bluff gained a 68-67 win over Bethel College of Tennessee when guard Roger Davis hit a jump shot from 10 feet away with six seconds left on the clock.

The Reddies placed two men on the All-Tournament team, Mitchell and center Lee Clay, while Southwest Missouri was represented by Lawrence, Arkansas-Pine Bluff by Davis and Bethel College by Forward Albert King.

Robinson leads Lilbourn win

The Daily Standard's top ranked Lilbourn Panthers used a balanced offense and a pressure defense to claim the championship of the Sikeston Invitational basketball tournament Saturday night at the field house, defeating the Poplar Bluff Mules 67- 69. New Madrid edged Hayti 40- 39 for the consolation prize.

In the championship game the Lilbourn Panthers used their full court press throughout most of the game to cause some floor mistakes by the Poplar Bluff Mules. Lilbourn was in command of the game from the start until a last quarter rally by PBHS almost pulled the game out of the fire.

The Mules stayed with the Panthers in the first period falling behind by one point, 17- 16 but kept losing more ground as the game progressed being outscored in the second period 17- 12 and 19- 15 in the third quarter and it looked as if the Panthers of coach Larry Warren were going to be sure wins for the first place trophy.

Coach Jim King, in his first year as the head mentor of the Mules, put a press of his own on in the last quarter and Tutti Hays began to make a few steals and PBHS began to break down the court for the easy layup and were within three points 53- 50, with 5:32 left in the game after being behind by 12 points early in the period.

Lilbourn's coolness and experience recovered the Panthers in time to halt the onslaught by the Mules in time to claim the victory.

Frankie Robinson, the sophomore flash, pumped in 26 points for the Panthers, mostly from the 20 foot range. Robert Dodd hit 23 from the inside for the Mules.

In the first game of the evening the New Madrid Indians of coach Carroll Compton looked tired after having played three games during the week and had a rough time getting any momentum going during the game.

Hayti jumped out in the opening minutes of the game and hit their first three shots from the field to take a quick 6- 0 lead but cooled off quite a bit from that point on and New Madrid began to press causing numerous turnovers and were behind 10- 6 after the first period.

In the second period neither team could handle the ball well enough to get any kind of offensive threat underway and the Indians climbed back from the four point deficit to forge ahead by four in the second quarter and deadlock the game at 17- 17 at the half.

Hayti continued to hit iron in the third period as New Madrid began to find the range with Steve Glenn and Vernon Collins hitting a few baskets and took a seven point 17- 10 advantage in the quarter and led 34- 27 going into the final eight minutes of play.

Hayti began to press a little in the last period and New Madrid started turning the ball over and missing the good shots and before the Indians knew what was happening the Hayti Indians were within one point of the lead with 13 seconds left and in possession of the ball. Hayti was unable to get a show away before the buzzer sounded to end the game with New Madrid out in front.

New Madrid had a balanced scoring attack with Steve Glenn and Charles Boyd high men with nine points. Franky Johnson led a three man attack for Hayti with 19 points.

2 car accident injures 1

Danny Michael Limbaugh, 20, of 945 Cambridge Drive, was treated for a minor injury following a two- car accident about 6 p.m. Saturday on East Malone Avenue.

He was treated and released at Missouri Delta Community Hospital for bruised ribs.

Police said the accident occurred when a car driven by Rodney Jerome McConnell, 18, of 112 Second St., attempted a left turn into the Radio Shack parking area from the eastbound lane of East Malone. McConnell told police a pickup truck pulled onto the highway forcing him to slow down. He was struck by Limbaugh, who told police he tried to avoid McConnell's car, but couldn't.

What's the law?

The case of the stumped policeman

By Jack Strauss, LL.B.

Patrolman O'Reilly, feeling red, white and blue, decided that he wanted to support a particular candidate for political office. His desire to stomp for the candidate, however, was stumped by a police department rule that forbade policemen from participating in political campaigns.

Unhappy about being left on the fence, O'Reilly challenged the legality of the rule in court.

"The rule's unfair," he told a judge. "It deprives us cops of our freedom of speech, discriminates against us in favor of everybody else and makes us second class citizens. While we're making pinches, we're being squeezed out. Certainly, we should have a right to help choose our public officials."

"If he didn't like the rule," was the answer, "he shouldn't have become a policeman. As for the rule itself, it's both necessary and reasonable. Police officers, in maintaining law and order, obviously, can't become personally involved in politicial campaigns and candidates. To perform their job right, they must remain impartial."

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you unstump Officer O'Reilly and declare the rule invalid. This is how the judge ruled: NO! The judge held that the removal of police personnel from active politics and participation in any movement for the nomination or election of candidates for political or public office is conducive to the effective maintenance of discipline and the preservation and promotion of the integrity and efficiency of the police department and its personnel. Therefore, concluded the judge, the rule was proper and sound.

Dexter revenue bond plan okayed

DEXTER-- The Missouri Division of Commerce and Industrial Development has given approval to the plan for the voting of revenue bonds in Dexter for the expansion of the Fram Corp. factory here.

City Attorney Paul McGhee said the state agency informed him that formal approval for Dexter to vote an additional $600,000 in revenue bonds to expand the Fram plant had been given.

Indications are that the vote on the measure will be held sometime in late January.

The revenue bonds will not increase local taxes and will be retired entirely by revenue from the Fram Corp.

Fram needs to expand its facilities here for additional warehouse and production facilities. The $600,000 bond issue would permit a 100,000 square- foot expansion of the local industry, it was pointed out.

The announcement of the plan for expansion of the Fram factory was made Oct. 29, and the city of Dexter immediately made application to the Division of Commerce and Industrial Development for approval of the proposal. Under state law, the CID is required to examine a request, then approve the proposal before it can be brought to a vote.

Although it will not change the local tax structure, a vote by the people is required under state law, officials pointed out.

McGhee said that his application for authority to call the election had been approved. He will officially bring the matter to the attention of the City Council at its next regular meeting and it is likely that an election date will be set at that time.

Art Anderson, superintendent of the Fram factory here, told a press conference on Oct. 29 that Fram needs to expand its facilities in order to increase its production and warehousing capacity.

The new facility is likely to result in approximately 70 more jobs at the Fram plant, Anderson estimated. This increase in personnel will mean an increase in the local payroll of approximately $500,000 per year, it has been estimated.

At the Oct. 28 conference, Fram officials expressed themselves as "well pleased" with operations in Dexter and indicated that the plan for expansion was an indication of satisfaction.

Truck demolished, 2 killed

James T. Green, 59, and Jake Ward 65, of Sikeston were killed Sunday morning when Green failed to stop his pickup truck, above, for a red light at the intersection of Highways 60 and 61 at the south edge of town and crashed into the side of a tractor- trailer truck driven by Henry Allen Doggett, 55, of Blytheville, Ark. The two deaths raised traffic fatalities in Southeast Missouri to 144 this year.

7 energy-related bills introduced

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — "I know other legislators are afraid of it, but I'm not going to be afraid of it," says state Rep. J. T. "Jerry" Howard, who has introduced a bill to take away drivers' licenses of 16 and 17-year-olds during the energy crisis.

"When you have a crisis, you have to take stern measures," says the Democrat from Dexter in southeast Missouri.

"Sure it's discrimination," he said. "But for the most part these are students who don't need to drive to make a living."

Howard says he plans to check with the Revenue Department to see how many licenses are owned by persons 16 and 17. The bill would cover all motor vehicles, including motorcycles.

Any persons 16 or 17 who could show they need their licenses to earn money for the family, drive to the hospital or a doctor's office or otherwise are the sole transportation in the family would be given a special underage permit.

Howard's bill, one of seven energy-related bills introduced in the special legislative session, would expire March 1, 1976, or earlier by executive order of the governor.

His bill is due for a hearing in the House Roads and Highways Committee Dec. 17.

The House was to reconvene its special session today at 4 p.m. Due for a hearing today were three bills dealing with the speed limit.

The limit now is 70 miles per hour on interstate highways, 65 on two-lane roads.

A measure allowing the governor to set the speed limit on all highways, at not less than 50 M.P.H., was introduced by the House speaker pro tem, Richard DeCoster, D-Canton.

DeCoster also planned to introduce a bill today to give the state Public Service Commission authority to monitor all energy supplies in the state and keep an inventory.

DeCoster's speed limit bill would expire Sept. 28, 1975.

Nearly all the energy bills have an emergency clause, putting them into effect when the governor signs them.

A bill by Rep. Buddy Kay, D-St. Louis, would set the maximum speed at 60 M.P.H. It would expire April 1, 1975.

Another bill by Rep. Harold Volkmer, D-Hannibal, would set the limit at 55 M.P.H. Its expiration date would be Dec. 12, 1975.

The bills by Volkmer and Kay would put the limit into law and the governor could not change it before the expiration date.

A measure to allow school districts to operate schools only four days a week, with six-hour days, was filed by Reps. Earl Sponsoler, D-Cabool, and Wendell Bailey, R-Willow Springs.

Burglars busy over weekend

DEXXTER-- The Stoddard County Sheriff's department is investigating a rash of burlgaries that occurred over the weekend.

A motorcycle was taken from the home of Delmar Barks of Dexter sometime Saturday night.

The Curve Inn at Essex was burglarized over the weekend and a case of popcorn, cigars and soft drinks was taken. Burglars pried a hasp from the door to get into the building.

Another burglary was reported at Williams' Gun Shop west of Advance. Seven guns were taken.

Advance youth critically shot

ADVANCE-- Michael Welch of Advance was critically wounded in a hunting accident Sunday near Advance, according to Stoddard County Sheriff Ralph Mouser.

Welch and two other youths, Timmy White and Steve Vokrack of Advance were hunting rabbits when the accident occurred. A bullet passed through Welch's body, but the Sheriff's department did not know whether it entered from the front or back.

Welch was taken to Southeast Missouri Hospital in Cape Girardeau where his condition is listed as critical.

The shooting is still under investigation.

2 Sikeston men, Malden man killed in accidents

Two Sikeston men and a Malden man were killed and four persons were injured in five traffic accidents on area roads and highways over the weekend, the highway patrol reported today.

The latest fatalities bring the traffic death toll in Southeast Missouri this year to 144, compared to 168 deaths at the same time last year.

James T. Green, 59, and a passenger, Jake Ward, 65, of Sikeston, were fatally injured Sunday morning when Green's pickup truck reportedly ran through a stop light at the intersection of Highways 60 and 61 at the south edge of Sikeston and crashed into the side of a tractor- trailer truck driven by Henry Allen Doggett, 55, of Blytheville, Ark.

The accident occurred at 8:25 a.m.

Green was dead on arrival at Missouri Delta Community Hospital in Sikeston. Ward died at the hospital at 11:15 a.m. Doggett was not injured.

Green was born March 6, 1914 at Savannah, Tenn.

On June 20, 1936, he married Elsie Klapp, who survives.

Other survivors include two sons, Bobby Green of Route Three and Tommy Green of the home; four daughters, Mrs. Joan Vinson of Ripley, Tenn., Mrs. Wilma Western of Hillsboro, Mrs. Kay Harper of Sikeston and Mrs. Debbie Hammon of Route Three; two brothers, Robert and Owen Green of Sikeston; two sisters, Mrs. Bessie Alexander of Savannah, Tenn., and Mrs. Sarah Miller of Crossville, Tenn., and six grandchildren.

Friends may call at Nunnelee Funeral Chapel after 4 p.m. today.

A freak accident at 12:30 a.m. Sunday on Route J six miles west of Malden resulted in the death of Ira Dockins, 47, of Malden.

The patrol said Dockins backed his car into a ditch on the west side of the highway and either got out of the car or fell out. The car then rolled over him.

A passing motorist discovered the accident about 12:45 a.m. and removed the body from under the car.

Dockins was born Aug. 12, 1926 at Malden and was a veteran of the Korean War.

Surviving are his mother, Addie Dockins of Malden; two sons, Freddie Dockins and Keith Dockins of Malden; one daughter, Kathy Dockins of Malden; two sisters, Lilly Davis and Mildred Crawford of St. Louis; five half brothers, Wayne, Elmer and Jetty Dockins of Flint, Mich., and Roy and George Dockins of California; two half sisters, Mamie Bettis of Texarkana, Ark., and Myrtle Warren of Morley.

Marijuana charges filed against Moit

CAPE GIRARDEAU-- A Bertrand man, Manuel Allen Moit, 21, arrested Friday afternoon in Cape Girardeau, has been charged with possession of more than 35 grams of marijuana and possession of narcotics paraphernalia, according to Prosecuting Attorney Al Seier's office.

Moit was arrested when the car he was driving struck a gasoline pump at the Star Service Station at the corner of Broadway and North Frederick streets. Cape Girardeau police officers said when they arrived at the station they found Moit sitting behind the wheel with the motor running. Police said he appeared intoxicated and at police headquarters, officers noticed a bulge in his clothing, which was a plastic bag containing the substance.

Fire damages Pool's Heating and Cooling

Fire did extensive damage to the back shop of Pool's Heating and Cooling on South Main Street early Sunday morning.

The cause of the fire is unknown, but Fire Chief Larry Linnemeyer said the blaze may have started in a faulty heating unit suspended from the ceiling of the shop. It was discovered shortly after midnight.

When firemen arrived at the building, located across from Jack Frost Discount, flames were shooting through the roof and smoke was rising from the length of the building.

An extra pumper and the ladder truck were called to the scene, but the fire was quickly extinguished.

Firemen also were called to the Rustic Rock Inn restaurant on North Main Street at 6:45 a.m. Saturday when an employe discovered a small flame shooting from the furnace. Firemen said the flame was caused by a small gas leak and there was no damage.

At 10:10 a.m. Saturday, firemen were called to East Front Street where a car belonging to William Neal caught fire. The fire, which firemen said damaged the car's engine before being extinguished, was apparently caused by a carburetor backfire.

Shortly after 4 p.m. Sunday, firemen were called to a grassfire at 923 Hawthorne. The fire had been put out by the time firemen arrived.

Oran men presented conservation awards

BENTON — Schell Bodenhamer, associate dean of the University of Missouri Extension Division in Columbia, spoke on energy, pesticides, fertilizers and land use at Scott County Soil and Water Conservation District's 11th annual meeting Saturday in the American Legion Hall.

Miss Nancy Dohogne, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Dohogne of Oran, was presented a $10 check for winning first place in the county poster contest.

Miss Dohogne also won first place in the state poster contest during July in Fulton where she competed with approximately 300 students in the state.

Arthur Eftink and Wesley Schlosser of Oran were presented certificates for outstanding achievements in conservation farming.

Paul Stucky of Benton and Frank Schlosser of Illmo were elected Soil and Water Conservation District area supervisors for 1974.

Bodenhamer said the United States has a coal supply that would last the country at least 400 years but that only 15 per cent of the coal would be able to meet Clean Air Act requirements.

Schell Bodenhamer

"What the country does earlier relates to the type of crisis that will follow," Bodenhamer said. In reference to the gasoline shortage, he said he expects the price to rise at least five times within the coming year.

According to Bodenhamer, possible solutions that may help in the energy crisis could be electricy, nucular energy, agriculture and soybeans.

"The United States uses a total of eight million tons of fertilizer each year," Bodenhamer remarked. During the 1974 season some farmers may find it difficult to obtain certain types of fertilizers for their crops, he said.

At present, Bodenhamer said there are several bills before the Missouri Legislature concerning restrictions on pesticides.

According to Bodenhamer, the No. 1 polluter of Missouri crops is erosion. "Eleven out of 15 acres of crops need some type of chemical treatment," he remarked.

Bodenhamer concluded his speech by saying that one of the main projects that will help the towns in developing their land will be the soil survey.

A farm industry spokesman has charged that the worst cover-up operation in Washington is not Watergate, but the untiring efforts of the Administration and the Congress, in particular, to cover up with controls the inflation caused by irresponsible government spending policies.

In the words of the spokesman, "Without denying the political significance of the Watergate investigation, we must conclude that the efforts to 'cover-up' inflation by means of economic controls is in the most respects a far greater threat to the well-being of this nation..." He added that only a few political appointees are involved in Watergate. Controls on the other hand, "tempt citizens in every community across the land to hoard supplies, rustle cattle, keep two sets of books, pass money under the counter for special favors – and even cheat in such matters as the amount of fat left untrimmed on meat in grocery stores. Any government program which invites mass cheating is certain to be a corrupting influence..."

VIETNAM'S COSTS:
FORGET THE MONEY

The Indochina war will have cost American taxpayers a total of $676 billion by the time we finish paying for it.

So claims Thomas Riddell, a Bucknell University economist, whose study of the economic effects of the Vietnam conflict has been published in The Progressive magazine.

Ridell's figure includes not only the actual wartime outlay for weapons and materiel and expected future expenditures for Vietnam veterans and their dependents, which will go on well into the next century. He expands it by including U. S. support of the French effort in Southeast Asia, beginning in 1950, as well as his estimated of "human resources" costs.

The latter include wage losses suffered by draftees, the dollar price to society of drug addiction among veterans and the value of lifetime production lost to the economy because of casualties.

But while it is not easy to minimize the costs of this terrible war, neither is it difficult to exaggerate them to prove a point. Riddell, for example, does not offset the wage losses of draftees — which cannot really be known — with an estimate of the increased earning power of other veterans who may possibly have acquired skills and trades useful in civilian life.

In any event, it is hopeless to try to pin down a final figure for something that has to be spoken of in terms of hundreds of billions of dollars, by any reckoning. Forget the money. Consider the other costs of the Vietnam war, which Riddell also mentions:

More than 56,000 men killed and more than 303,000 injured; almost 23,000 double amputees; more than 2,500 quadraplegics and paraplegics; about 260,700 veterans receiving disability payments; more than 1,300 Americans still listed as missing in action.

PUBLIC WELFARE
SPENDING KEEPS
ON CLIMBING

The Federal government originally planned to spend $131 billion -- nearly half its proposed $269 billion budget -- on public welfare this year, according to an estimate given Congress.

That view of public welfare spending includes expenditures for "income security" programs (the social insurance programs like social security, medicare, unemployment and government retirement systems to which beneficiaries have contributed, as well as those welfare programs based on financial need).

Spending for the income security programs alone has more than tripled in the past 10 years, according to Tax Foundation Inc.

Actually, the estimated costs of public welfare, including administrative costs of more than $4 billion, may be too low. So far this year Congress has legislated increases in Social Security and Supplemental Security Income payments continuation of the food stamp program, and postponed until November the use of new regulations the Department of Health, Education and Welfare claimed would tighten up welfare spending.

About-one-fourth of the Federal spending, under 100 separate public welfare programs, will be paid out on the basis of financial need. About half of the spending involved will be paid in cash benefits and the remainder in the form of food, medical, housing, counseling, training and other benefits.

Although the Federal government will assume the full cost of providing basic assistance to the aged, blind and disabled in January, welfare spending for the needy from state and local funds -- $16.2 billion in 1972 -- will continue to rise.

According to Tax Foundation studies, total welfare based on need was estimated in fiscal 1972 to cost the nation's taxpayers about $36 billion.

Because the programs overlap -- some people may received benefits from three or four different programs and some families from as many as 11 -- it is impossible to say at any one time exactly how many persons in the United States are receiving public welfare.

A recent study for a Congressional committee, however, estimated that between 25 and 30 million persons were helped on the basis of financial need.

It is no wonder that grumbling, over-burdened taxpayers are going to make this welfare spending an issue in 1974.

WILL RODGERS' HUMOR
AND WISDOM NEEDED
TODAY

While most young people won't know what we are talking about, this is a time when we need a Will Rogers to comment on the Watergate era and political turmoil with his wisdom and humor.

Although his voice has been stilled for 40 years, Will Rogers would have been 94 years old last Nov. 4 which reminded us of the years he was America's number one ambassador of goodwill.

Above all, the legend of the man centers around his political commentaries and his views on life and the times in which he lived -- views which even today stand the test of time. In fact, to read what Will Rogers told the world a half century ago seems uncannily appropriate for the events of the 1970s.

Let's see how his comments of four and five decades ago shed light on circumstances he might have understood better than any of us. There are many examples. All the quotes are Will Rogers'.

Campaign corruption: "The Democrats are having a lot of fun exposing the Republican campaign corruptions, but they would have a lot more fun of they knew where they could lay their hands on some of it themselves for next November" (1920s).

The presidency: "I have always maintained that no president can be as bad as the men that advise him" (January, 1933).

Cover-ups: "You can't believe a thing you read in regard to an official's statements. The minute anything happens connected with official life, it's just like a cold night -- everybody is trying to cover up" (Oct. 4, 1925).

Public opinion of politicians: "People's minds are changed through observation and not through argument" (March 16, 1932).

"The American people are generous and will forgive almost any weakness with the exception of stupidity" (Feb. 24, 1934).

Presidential popularity: "There is no country in the world where a person changes from a hero to a goat and a goat to a hero, or visa versa, as they do with us ... It's not our public men you can't put your finger on, it's our public. We are the only fleas weighing over 100 pounds. We don't know what we want, but we are ready to bite somebody to get it" (June 19, 1935).

Political scandals: "We've been staggering along now about 155 years under every conceivable horse thief that could get into office and yet here we are, still going strong. I doubt if Barnum circus has housed as many different kinds of species as has been in our government employ during its existence. As bad as they are they can't spoil it and as good as they are they can't help it. So as bad as we are, we are better off than any other nation, so what's the use to worry?" (Nov. 16, 1930).

The public's elective power: "Every time we have an election, we get in worse men and the country keeps right on going. Times have proven only one thing and that is you can't ruin this country even with politics" (Nov. 4, 1928).

"If we didn't have two parties, we would settle on the best men in the country and things would run fine. But as it is, we settle on the worst ones, and then fight over 'em" (Oct. 4, 1925).

"It's just got so that 90 per cent of the people don't give a damn. Politics ain't worrying this country one- tenth as much as parking space" (circa 1930s).

"Things in our country run in spite of government. Not by aid of it" (circa 1930).

Congressional investigations: "Everybody wants to hear accusations and nobody wants to hear denials" (April 6, 1924, speaking of a Senate investigation).

"The American people would trade 10 investigations for one conviction" (June 6, 1924).

The American image abroad: "It will take America 15 years steady taking care of our own business and letting everybody else's alone to get us back to where everybody speaks to us again" (1925).

"I don't care how little your country is, you got a right to run it like you want. When the big nations quit meddling, then the world will have peace" (circa 1920s).

GOVERNMENT PAYROLL
COST TO $118 BILLION

It is no longer amusing to taxpayers that, while the number of government workers continues to grow about twice as fast as the population, it's the cost of paying them that's leapfrogging.

The monthly public payroll of $6.1 billion in 1967 had risen to $9.7 billion by last October, a 60 per cent increase. On an annual basis, Tax Foundation Inc. estimates that civilian payrolls alone will exceed $118 billion in 1973.

Civilian public employment totaled 13.6 million last October. Of the total, 10.8 million worked in the local-state government level and 2.8 million in the Federal government.

The October 1972 employment total represents an increase of 287,000 from October 1971 and 1.6 million from 1967, a 13 per cent increase in the five- year period. The nation's population increased about 5 per cent in the same time.

Federal employment was cutback by about 200,000 during the period, from 3 million in 1967. The monthly Federal payroll, however, has kept on rising, from $1.8 billion to about $2.7 billion which indicates the majority in Congress are in favor of feathering their own nests with rasies.

Approximately one-fifth of the 10.8 million state and local employes are hired on a part-time basis, making the total full-time equivalent 9,177,000. More than half the 371,000 increase in full-time equivalent employment in 1971-72 was in education, the field that claims half of all state and local employes.

This is how it breaks down for Kansas: state- local employes were 123,000 in 1967 and 140,000 in 1972; amount of payroll was $46 million in 1967 and $69 million in 1972. Yet Gov. Docking would have us believe he is a conservative spender and talks about his tax-lid policies.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

By Jack Anderson

JACK ANDERSON SAYS: Kremlin Phone Tap Leak Now White House Alibi

WASHINGTON -- We have been accused of compromising as intelligence operation, perhaps even jeopardizing the life of an agent, inside the Soviet Union.

Let us set the record straight.

More than two years ago, we were tipped off that the Central Intelligence Agency had managed to eavesdrop on the private conversations of Kremlin leaders. Some of the transcripts, we were told, were quite titillating.

We checked out the story with a CIA source who had access to the transcripts. He confirmed that the CIA was intercepting the telephone traffic between the limousines of Soviet bigwigs.

GOSSIPY LEADERS

Unfortunately, he said, they didn't hold strategy sessions in their limousines. The CIA picked up small talk, however, which provided an insight into the personalities of the likes of party chief Leonid Brezhnev, Premier Alexi Kosygin and President Nikolai Podgorny.

The transcripts revealed that the Soviet leaders gossip about one another and complain about their ailments. Their favorite limousine stop was a private clinic where they could get steam baths, rubdowns and other physical therapy.

Brezhev, who sometimes drinks too much vodka and suffers from hangovers, told Podgorny in a typical conversation that he was suffering from the woes and would stop off at the clinic for a massage. He mentioned a masseuse named Olga.

"Olga! Oh Ho!" chortled the Soviet president, who apparently was familiar with Olga.

KREMLIN AWARE

Therefore, it should do no harm to write about the eavesdropping operation, said our source. He cautioned, however, that the monitored conversations didn't make clear whether the Soviet leaders had figured out how we did it.

We published a careful story on September 16, 1971, about the eavesdropping. "For obvious security reason," we wrote, "we can't give a clue as to how it's done. But we can state categorically that for years the CIA has been able to listen to the kingpins of the Kremlin banter, bicker and backbite among themsleves."

The following December, we quoted from secret White House minutes to show that President Nixon had lied to Congress and the public about the India- Pakistan conflict.

FOOLISH CRIMES

This brought the President's gumshoes down on our necks with a vengeance. No newsmen in Nixondom have ever received a more thorough going-over. The undercover work was done by the plumbers, the bizarre para-police unit whose operatives ran around in ICA wigs and committed foolish crimes.

The bewigged ones, among other things, began checking into our account of the Kremlin bugging. This aroused Richard Helms, then the CIA chief, who invited me to lunch on March 17, 1972.

He asked me not to mention the eavesdropping operation, in my book, "The Anderson Papers." He acknowledged that the Kremlin leaders knew their conversations had been monitored. But he pleaded with me to keep quiet and urged me particularly never to mention how the conversations were intercepted.

Accordingly, I omitted the references from my book and left it to others to reveal the secret monitoring method. Not until today, after the limousine- listening operation has been widely publicized elsewhere, have we mentioned how it was done.

WHISPERING CAMPAIGN

Nevertheless, the White House has seized upon this affair to justify the President's claim of national security in the plumbers case. Aides have been whispering that our story shut down one of the best pipelines into the Soviet Union.

This is strictly a red herring, which President Nixon hopes will distract the Watergate bloodhounds. The truth is that: (1) the monitored Kremlin chitchat was never an important intelligence source; (2) Our September 16, 1971, story revealed nothing the Kremlin leaders didn't already know; and (3) the President's claim of national security simply won't wash.

His motive is perfectly clear.He is vulnerable to charges that he obstructed the investigation of the plumbers. For he has admitted not only that he formed the plumbers but that he ordered Assistant Attorney General Henry Petersen not to investigate them.

Now Egil Krogh, the chief plumber, has pleaded guilty to one of the crimes committed, by his curious crew. Other criminal indictments have been handed down.

The President't attempt to block an investigation into these crimes, therefore, would appear to be obstruction of justice -- which itself is a crime.

His justification for attempting to cover up the plumbers' crimes is national security. But Krogh has cut some of the ground out from under him by telling the judge: "I now feel that I cannot in conscience assert national security as a defense."

HELLO CURLY
BILLY AND CRAZY SAM

To really understand this country you have to study the top songs "in air play popularity," as the magazines say.

The titles of these songs get you right down into the beating heart of the nation. Or at least into whatever kind of heart it has.

Take right now.

Did you know the most popular song being played by the platter patters is Photograph?

Maybe you thought Photograph was something else like a picture, or the name of a race horse. Well, it isn't. It's good ol' Number One.

Running second in the groove grand prix is Top of the World while Midnight Train to Georgia and Goodby Yellow Brick Road are close behind.

Now, can you really believe something is wrong with a country which like No. 13 — Leave Me Alone Ruby Red Dress?

Or maybe you would rather not answer. Anyway, Ruby trails Paper Roses and is ahead of Mind Games, Times In a Bottle and Be.

Somehow, you can just see the emigrants lining up on European shores to come to the land of of Mind Games and Be.

That's right, Be.

You'll have to agree Shakespeare, Cole Porter and Clifford Irvine never wrote a better line than that — Be.

Incidentally, No. 24 right now must be a Hungarian song.

Its name is D'yer Mak'er.

Or, then again, maybe that tune is named after some foreign place kicker in he National Football League.

Yes sir, to know the heart of a country, to feel its charm, to be inspired by its character listen to the likes of Half Breed, The Joker, or Helen Wheels, You're a Special Part of Me, Smarty Pants.

Those titles get us down to the less sensible titles below the fifties. Titles like Love Me Like a Rock — wonder how you do that (our comment, not a title).

And there is Sister Mary Elephant, Nutbush City Limits, Spiders and Snakes, Corazon.

Lastly, right there at No. 74 on the air play parade is the kind of song that makes men, men and women want to join the Army.

Yes sir, if the Minute Men had had it a Lexington, if George had had it at Valley Forge, if MacArthur had had it at Corregidor, if John Dena had had it at Camp David, history would be different. Because good ol' No. 74 is:

The Day That Curly Billy Shot Crazy Sam.

SHORTAGES BRING
CHANGE IN TUNE

Those who once boasted of their drive to knock the profits out of essential industries like food products, aerospace, automotive services and energy, have now changed their tune just a bit. They no longer brag about what they are doing to our basic industries and to the profits which keep our free system going. They lay the blame elsewhere, while increasing their attacks on business and on profits.

It is as if they had not lived through these past months which have so clearly revealed the inevitable results of their folly. They have succeeded in their efforts, causing growing shortages of food, fuel and services, and now they call for more of the same policies which destroyed jobs and profits, bringing on the shortages in the first place.

These central planners and people controllers prefer Marx and shortages to Freedom and plenty. After driving profits so low as to knock out 80 percent of the oil wildcatters, for example, they blame the oil industry and profits for the resulting shortages.

Only the people can stop this stupidity. It is past time to free the miraculous production engine of the profit- motive system. We must allow those who know how to find, produce and deliver fuel, food and other essentials to get on with the jobs only they can do. The alternative is to suffer increasing shortages and increasing controls over our lives, resulting in rapid bankruptcies of businesses, loss of jobs and disaster. Surely we are wiser than that. HLH

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

Inside the Truck Rebellion: Teamsters May Trigger Nation's Labor By Reopening Wage Contracts Over Fuel Crunch

WASHINGTON-- Of course, the melodrama is in the owner-driver truckers' highway blockades, here and there abetted by the police, in some six or seven states. There may be violence. There may be scattered traffic and delivery chaos. Even some meat, grocery or steel supply shortages for a day or so.

Bill Hill, leader of one of the blockade- building truck drivers' bands, called Fraternal Assn. of Steel Haulers (FASH), a rebel faction inside the Teamsters union, is talking mighty tough. FASH blockades and rebellions against the national Teamsters contracts have been paralleled with grim violence. Blood has run on those picket lines.

But after the histrionics of other owner- driver truckers leaders, with citizen radio band call names like River Rat and Viking, are over, this nation may face a quieter, more basic labor upheaval.

Actually this is one of the most significant early moments of truth in the energy crunch. Teamsters union president Frank Fitzsimmons tells me he and his colleagues, who have disowned the owner- driver blockades, really do mean to reopen the national master freight agreement signed earlier this year with Trucking Employers, Inc. This covers some 425,000 union drivers. Simple reason: at a 50- mile-an- hour speed, with drivers earning some 16 cents a mile, the teamsters would lose some 20 per cent of their wages. At 55 miles, loss would be some 10 per cent. Even at a 60- mile limit there would be a cut. A big van needs "free wheeling" to make a good run of some 500 miles in 10 hours. And they say they can't gear up to "free wheeling" until they hit 58 m.p.h.

There are all sorts of Department of Transportation regulations which keep a driver off the road after 10 hours of pushing. These will keep wages down unless there is this "free wheeling." So Fitz says, "Take us seriously, we just will have to reopen those contracts if the new law, now being debated in Sen. Bentsen's subcommittee on roads cuts us below 60 miles an hour."

In recent years, other massive unions have watched the Teamsters. As the drivers go on wages and percentage increases, so have the others gone. Back in 1970 the Teamsters set the pace for construction and the auto union. Now if it reopens, they'll set the pace for next year's steel union negotiations and for reopeners in other industries, contracts or no contracts. There are always strategic "wildcat" strikes as weapons.

The rash of truck blockades is but a symptom of the industrial unrest beginning to seep through the land as supplies of diesel and other fuels thin out. Toughest action, for the moment, springs from a network of men who own their big vans, sometimes earn as much as $40,0000 annually as individual contractors, and are cut up in several factions.

One big group, no one really knows how many, though it could run as high as 10,000, is tied up with a California trade publication which provokes them in weird fashion. In the magazine's October issue there was a two-page spread headlined: "45,000 Owner- Operators Lead Nation to Revolution! Refusing to Be Nationalized, Truckers Provide Final Bombshell as President Is Assassinated! World Sees Power of United Truckers." The story then talks of what these men can do-- and the smaller print interweaves the report on Chile's truck strikes, blockades and the destruction of the Allende regime.

You can interpret the article's parallelism as you wish. The theme is rebellion on the highways.

American owner- drivers are in a tough mood. They pay their own expenses. For example, the blockaders' truck tanks can hold 150 to 200 gallons of diesel fuel. And they have to fill up on the road.

With scarcity, says one driver, he would have to make the Omaha- New York run carrying meat with 12 stops instead of 6--- if he can get gas. It's now mostly available in 20 to 40 gallon doles. In some areas it is running more than 75 cents a gallon now, up from 35 and 40 cents. And that's the driver's most basic beef.

So his expenses are up, his running time is longer, and the number of contracts he can handle for some local broker is slashed. And he is away from home base more since this could add as much as two days on a round- trip run.

He and his fellow owner-drivers are in an ugly mood. It's vital to understand that they haul 25 per cent of the nation's common carriage (general commodity) freight. And they're thinking of simply stowing their gear and getting jobs bartending for the duration.

And already there's more freight than can be carried by rail and available trucks. Those White House specialists had better take a look at price-rocketing diesel fuel and the ramifications of the shortage-- and heed Fitzsimmons's appeal for "a meaningful" summit conference before the nation's wheels go out of gear.

Council chairmen named

Dr. Mark Scully, president of Southeast Missouri State University in Cape Girardeau who was re-elected president of the Southeast Missouri Council of Boy Scouts of America at the annual meeting Thursday night in Sikeston, has announced committee chairmen for 1974.

Chairmen will be: Walter Hedrick of Sikeston, advancement; Pat Lea of Sikeston, finance; Dr. John Sargent of Sikeston, health and safety; Victor Hill of Cape Girardeau, activities; Joe Kiser of Piedmont, camping; Kenneth Myles of Cape Girardeau, exploring; Irven Schlief of Doniphan, leadership training; Dr. T. The Council decided to build a lodge on the newly-acquired 60- acre tract at Lake Wappapello. The structure, which will include a meeting room, sleeping quarters, kitchen, shower and latrine facility will be constructed during the spring of 1974. T. A. Brown, Jr. of Kennett announced that electric lines had already run to the site and a well will be dug immediately.

Hedrick, council advancement chairman, announced that Gov. Christopher "Kit" Bond will be the speaker and sponsor of the 1974 class of Eagle Scouts. The annual Court of Honor will be held on Southeast Missouri State University campus in February.

Myles, council round- up chairman, reported that the most successful round- up in the history of the council had been completed. He added that between Sept. 1 and Nov. 30, a membership increase of 19.4 per cent was recorded. He also stated that 25 new units had been organized during this time.

The Seminole and Sioux districts were recognized for their exceptional recruiting efforts during the round-up.

Lt. Commander James Dowdy of Cape Girardeau, accepted an award on behalf of the Naval Reserve Units for their work at Cape Lewellan and Lake Wappapello, where they had re- roofed 19 structures.

Ann Landers

—Reader says Americans have killed the Christmas spirit

Dear Ann Landers: Please print this in your column, although I won't be around to read it. I will have left for Bangkok, Thailand.

Someone circulated an essay around the office--- written by a man named William Kirchoff, whom I don't know. He's a friend of someone who works here. I can't quote the essay verbatim because I don't have it, but it expressed my views perfectly.

Mr. Kirchoff says Christmas is dead. The American people have stood it up against the wall and executed it. From its grave, a ghost has risen. The ghost calls itslef "Christmas," but it's a poor imitation of the real thing.

The change that hit me first was the tree. When I was a boy a Christmas tree was green and it smelled like a tree. The ornaments were pretty--- some were homemade. Today, a green Christmas tree--- a live one--- is rare. The "in" tree is white, silver or pink. It sparkles with sprayed- on stuff. The lights blink to keep time with a hidden stereo that plays Christmas music.

And this brings me to the next big change. "Silent Night" just doesn't make it anymore. It has to be sexy, like, "I Saw Mommy Kissing Santa Claus." The worst indignity is "Santa Baby." it comes back every year, like an itch.

Poor old Santa is no longer the jovial gentleman who puts candy canes in the children's stockings. Ho, ho, ho. He is the guy from Central Casting in the nylon beard and the red satin suit that retails for $14.95. He comes riding into town, not on a sleigh with reindeer, but in an open- top convertible, surrounded by six half- naked beauty contest winners. A month early.

When the kiddies sit on his knee, he listens to what they want, then tells them where to drag their parents to buy these goodies. Santa has gone slightly commercial.

Worst of all, the spirit of Christmas is gone. Family get-togethers are now out of the question because people are busy with office parties. And that's another story. Booze flows like it's being piped in from the city reservoir. Stenographers smooch behind water coolers and filing cabinets with men whose first names they wouldn't dare use any other day of the year. All this in the name of Christmas.

Christmas, the one day of the year set aside for Peace On Earth, Good Will Toward Men. They couldn't leave it alone. They had to go and kill it.--- Idaho Reader

Dear Reader: Thanks for sharing. And now I have some news for you. My column appears in the Bangkok World. (Yes, it's in English.) See you in Thailand!

Dear Ann Landers: I need to know what to do. I don't trust my own judgment. Too much emotion involved.

For years I have been giving my nieces and nephews a Christmas check. No big deal when I started but the number has grown from three to 27. Last year it was very difficult, but I made it. Through June I had to do without things I really needed. This year, what with inflation and four new babies, I just can't manage those checks.

Should I write a note of apology or would it be better to remain silent? I want to do what's right.--- Florida Woe

Dear F. W.: Write a note expressing some warm sentiment. Say you regret that there will be no check this year but you send your love, as always.

Are your parents too strict? Hard to reach? Ann Landers's booklet, "Bugged By Parents? How to Get More Freedom," could help you bridge the generation gap. Send 50c in coin with your request and a long, stamped, self- addressed envelope to Ann Landers, P. O. Box 3346, Chicago, Ill. 60654.

Change comes with needs, wants

By SHAREN K. HUNT
Area Home Economist

A lot has been said about what's wrong with today's families, but to change or improve, we need to know what we really want. According to Dr. Lynn Scoresby, Brigham Young University, there are six characteristics of a healthy or successful family.

Meta communication is one of the characteristics that describe a family "fully" functioning for individual member fulfillment. Meta communication is communicating about communication. This is "signal clearing" with others, checking to see if you have understood what others mean, and if they know how or what you feel.

Learning how to describe your feelings when you've been interrupted, ignored or left out of the discussion is a way to share feelings and clarify intentions.

Another part of meta communication is recognizing the nonverbal communication. It has been estimated that a conversation between 3 people emits 10,000 cues in a minute and a half. We pick out about 10 per cent of them, so we must accept the fact that true communication does take effort and skill.

Another aspect of "good" families is that they share a mutual purpose. They know what they want and all agree to it. One hazard in this mutual purpose is that many times, the one with power, usually parents, are the purpose staters, with others as non-voting members.

Decision making is a quality that invokes whole family, with each member's wishes and ideas respected. This is different than in unsuccessful families where trying to decide anything involves hard feelings, hard and fast rules and little freedom of choice for smaller or younger members.

Being in charge of situations and not merely reacting to circumstances describes a healthy family. This is when we each judge our feeling and actions by looking at ourselves and not considering it a horrible day just because children misbehaved.

Dr. Scoresby suggested parents try to talk about themselves for one minute and see if they can do so without mentioning children. Parents need to feel in charge of their own emotions and not always react to outside events.

Our behavior affects others, also, as well as being affected by others. Successful families establish set conditions to make planning easier. For example, when a wife wears aprons backwards, her husband knows she is in a bad mood and wants him to talk to her.

The other side is when he is upset and gives the signal or sets the stage so his wife knows he wants to be by himself. The signals helped establish the conditions so they know how to respond.

Conflict management is a healthy family's way of handling problems or emergencies. Families that feel conflict of any sort is unavoidable and unmanageable try to avoid topics that are touchy. They believe one can only roll with fate or punches, while successful families feel some trouble and problems can be headed off by operation discussion and deciding on general "rules of thumb."

Each family should have a personality of its own; not a drowning of individual traits, but a feeling of familyship. This is when a member could write a self- description of his family role and if other family members did the same thing, one's self perception would almost match how others saw him.

A healthy family can explain its philosophy, weaknesses, strengths, relationships, how it handles change and information and its values and beliefs. One basic principle supporting the need for successful families is the fact that people are influenced for their lifetime by what they got or didn't get in the family.

Indians lose

CAPE GIRARDEAU, Mo. (AP) — Guard Enos Mitchell rang up 22 points to guide Henderson State of Arkansas to a 66-63 victory over the host Southeast Missouri State University Indians in the championship game of the Giradot Classic this weekend.

Southeast Missouri, down 38-27 at halftime, staged a late second half rally to come within one point of the Reddies, 62-61, with only 20 seconds left. But then guard Jerry Bradley ripped the net from 30 feet out to ice the game for Henderson State.

Forward Larry Lawrence and center Arvin Haynes shared the scoring honors for the Indians, each with 16 points, as Southeast Missouri fell to 2-3 for the year. The victory was the Reddies' ninth in ten outings.

In a see-saw battle for consolation honors, the University of Arkansas-Pine Bluff gained a 68-67 win over Bethel College of Tennessee when guard Roger Davis hit a jump shot from 10 feet away with six seconds left on the clock.

The Reddies placed two men on the All-Tournament team, Mitchell and center Lee Clay, while Southwest Missouri was represented by Lawrence, Arkansas-Pine Bluff by Davis and Bethel College by Forward Albert King.

Robinson leads Lilbourn win

The Daily Standard's top ranked Lilbourn Panthers used a balanced offense and a pressure defense to claim the championship of the Sikeston Invitational basketball tournament Saturday night at the field house, defeating the Poplar Bluff Mules 67- 69. New Madrid edged Hayti 40- 39 for the consolation prize.

In the championship game the Lilbourn Panthers used their full court press throughout most of the game to cause some floor mistakes by the Poplar Bluff Mules. Lilbourn was in command of the game from the start until a last quarter rally by PBHS almost pulled the game out of the fire.

The Mules stayed with the Panthers in the first period falling behind by one point, 17- 16 but kept losing more ground as the game progressed being outscored in the second period 17- 12 and 19- 15 in the third quarter and it looked as if the Panthers of coach Larry Warren were going to be sure wins for the first place trophy.

Coach Jim King, in his first year as the head mentor of the Mules, put a press of his own on in the last quarter and Tutti Hays began to make a few steals and PBHS began to break down the court for the easy layup and were within three points 53- 50, with 5:32 left in the game after being behind by 12 points early in the period.

Lilbourn's coolness and experience recovered the Panthers in time to halt the onslaught by the Mules in time to claim the victory.

Frankie Robinson, the sophomore flash, pumped in 26 points for the Panthers, mostly from the 20 foot range. Robert Dodd hit 23 from the inside for the Mules.

In the first game of the evening the New Madrid Indians of coach Carroll Compton looked tired after having played three games during the week and had a rough time getting any momentum going during the game.

Hayti jumped out in the opening minutes of the game and hit their first three shots from the field to take a quick 6- 0 lead but cooled off quite a bit from that point on and New Madrid began to press causing numerous turnovers and were behind 10- 6 after the first period.

In the second period neither team could handle the ball well enough to get any kind of offensive threat underway and the Indians climbed back from the four point deficit to forge ahead by four in the second quarter and deadlock the game at 17- 17 at the half.

Hayti continued to hit iron in the third period as New Madrid began to find the range with Steve Glenn and Vernon Collins hitting a few baskets and took a seven point 17- 10 advantage in the quarter and led 34- 27 going into the final eight minutes of play.

Hayti began to press a little in the last period and New Madrid started turning the ball over and missing the good shots and before the Indians knew what was happening the Hayti Indians were within one point of the lead with 13 seconds left and in possession of the ball. Hayti was unable to get a show away before the buzzer sounded to end the game with New Madrid out in front.

New Madrid had a balanced scoring attack with Steve Glenn and Charles Boyd high men with nine points. Franky Johnson led a three man attack for Hayti with 19 points.

Danny Michael Limbaugh, 20, of 945 Cambridge Drive, was treated for a minor injury following a two- car accident about 6 p.m. Saturday on East Malone Avenue.

He was treated and released at Missouri Delta Community Hospital for bruised ribs.

What's the law?

The case of the stumped policeman

By Jack Strauss, LL.B.

Patrolman O'Reilly, feeling red, white and blue, decided that he wanted to support a particular candidate for political office. His desire to stomp for the candidate, however, was stumped by a police department rule that forbade policemen from participating in political campaigns.

Unhappy about being left on the fence, O'Reilly challenged the legality of the rule in court.

"The rule's unfair," he told a judge. "It deprives us cops of our freedom of speech, discriminates against us in favor of everybody else and makes us second class citizens. While we're making pinches, we're being squeezed out. Certainly, we should have a right to help choose our public officials."

"If he didn't like the rule," was the answer, "he shouldn't have become a policeman. As for the rule itself, it's both necessary and reasonable. Police officers, in maintaining law and order, obviously, can't become personally involved in politicial campaigns and candidates. To perform their job right, they must remain impartial."

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you unstump Officer O'Reilly and declare the rule invalid. This is how the judge ruled: NO! The judge held that the removal of police personnel from active politics and participation in any movement for the nomination or election of candidates for political or public office is conducive to the effective maintenance of discipline and the preservation and promotion of the integrity and efficiency of the police department and its personnel. Therefore, concluded the judge, the rule was proper and sound.

Dexter revenue bond plan okayed

DEXTER-- The Missouri Division of Commerce and Industrial Development has given approval to the plan for the voting of revenue bonds in Dexter for the expansion of the Fram Corp. factory here.

City Attorney Paul McGhee said the state agency informed him that formal approval for Dexter to vote an additional $600,000 in revenue bonds to expand the Fram plant had been given.

Indications are that the vote on the measure will be held sometime in late January.

The revenue bonds will not increase local taxes and will be retired entirely by revenue from the Fram Corp.

Fram needs to expand its facilities here for additional warehouse and production facilities. The $600,000 bond issue would permit a 100,000 square- foot expansion of the local industry, it was pointed out.

The announcement of the plan for expansion of the Fram factory was made Oct. 29, and the city of Dexter immediately made application to the Division of Commerce and Industrial Development for approval of the proposal. Under state law, the CID is required to examine a request, then approve the proposal before it can be brought to a vote.

Although it will not change the local tax structure, a vote by the people is required under state law, officials pointed out.

McGhee said that his application for authority to call the election had been approved. He will officially bring the matter to the attention of the City Council at its next regular meeting and it is likely that an election date will be set at that time.

Art Anderson, superintendent of the Fram factory here, told a press conference on Oct. 29 that Fram needs to expand its facilities in order to increase its production and warehousing capacity.

The new facility is likely to result in approximately 70 more jobs at the Fram plant, Anderson estimated. This increase in personnel will mean an increase in the local payroll of approximately $500,000 per year, it has been estimated.

At the Oct. 28 conference, Fram officials expressed themselves as "well pleased" with operations in Dexter and indicated that the plan for expansion was an indication of satisfaction.

St. Francis Hospital in Cape Girardeau.

Another one-car accident at 7:30 p.m. Saturday on Interstate 55 six miles south of Cape Girardeau resulted in serious injuries to Marie Meisenheimer, 53, of Alton, Ill.

The accident occurred when Mrs. Meisenheimer lost control of her car, which ran off the road and struck an embankment. She was taken to Southeast Missouri Hospital in Cape Girardeau.

Two Perryville residents were injured at 2 a.m. Saturday on Route J nine miles south of Perryville when a car driven by Elvie E. Rutherford, 39, of Perryville ran off the road and struck an embandment.

The patrol said the Rutherford car was being pursued by the Perryville police at the time of the accident.

Rutherford and a passenger, Gilbert Layton, 65, of Perryville, received serious injuries and were taken to Perry County Hospital in Perryville.
